All children deserve the best start possible!

Parents are the first and most important people in the lives of their children. All infants are born with amazing potential to learn and grow. However, what happens to that potential is dependent on early childhood experiences. Early childhood is the most vulnerable period of development and by far the most influential.

Positive early experiences for children support their overall healthy development. They will be better prepared to enter school ready to learn and successfully cope with the challenges of life.
